TO-DAY'S CABLES.

(Reuter's Service to the China Mail)

INTERNATIONAL INTERCOURSE.

WHAT AMERICA DEMANDS.

WASHINGTON, May 19.
Mr. Child, conferring with Mr. Lloyd George and Signor Schanzer, communicated the American viewpoint that Russia must rid herself of socialism as the first essential to economic restoration.

Addressing the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, Mr. Hughes said that the nations might adopt whatever policies they pleased concerning local affairs, but if sought international intercourse they must perform their international obligation. They put themselves outside the pale of international intercourse if they adopted a policy of confiscation.

LYNCHING HORROR.

SLOW TORTURE.

DAVIDSON (Georgia), May 19.
There were horrible scenes at the lynching of a 15-year old Negro in connection with the murder of a woman mail carrier. A mob of 2,000 participated. The Negro was tortured over a slow fire till he implicated another youth. He was then burned at the stake. Two hundred shots were fired at the body. The mob is searching for the other lad.

NORTH CHINA.

STUPID PEKING POLICE CENSORSHIP.

(Reuter's Pacific Service.)

SHANGHAI, May 19.
A Peking wire states that the withdrawal of Chang Tso-lin's consors from Peking has been followed by a police censorship which is more senseless than the former. Telegrams relating to Chang Tso-lin's withdrawal have been entirely suppressed without the common courtesy of notifying the sender. This stupid policy is merely antagonizing the press.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

FOOTBALL.

KING'S REGIMENT.

For six weeks now the King's Regiment has been holding a very interesting Regimental Football Competition. In spite of the hot weather, two matches have been played each evening on the Murray Parade ground, resulting in some very good football.

The competition which is now in full swing, is being conducted on league lines. There are 20 teams each of which is required to play one match with each of the remaining 19 teams, making a total of 190 matches.

The Battalion Challenge Football Cup is to be presented to the winners of the competition, who will also receive medals. The first game each evening commences at 4.30 and the second match follows immediately afterwards. The likely winners of the competition are expected to be found among the following teams:—Machine Gunners, "A" team, No. 9 Platoon, No. 13 Platoon, No. 11 Platoon and the "Drum".

The best matches during the past week were those between Demons, No. 13 Platoon, No. 9 Platoon, No. 11 Platoon, while the best match of the competition to date was that between the Machine Gun Companies, "A" and "B" teams, the game ending in a goalless draw. The surprise of the competition to date has been the defeat of the Machine Gunners "B" by a scratch team from No. 16 Platoon.

AMERICAN STEEL INDUSTRY.

WORKING DAY REFORM.

WASHINGTON, May 14.

President Harding gave a dinner to a number of steel magnates at the White House. He urged the abolition of the 12-hour working day, but gave an assurance that the Government did not intend to interfere with private enterprise. He expressed the opinion that the United States was about to witness a great industrial revival, and could only hope that such abolition was carried out before business was in full swing again.

Mr. Cary, President of the United States Steel Corporation, afterwards declared that all 41 steel men present favoured abolition if and when practicable.

A committee of steel men presided over by Mr. Cary has been appointed to investigate the matter.

CORRESPONDENCE.

KOWLOON FERRY.

(To the Editor of the "China Mail.")

Dear Sir,—As we are all aware, owing to the strike, the Kowloon Ferry service is the only means of transit to the mainland at present.

I believe it would interest the general public, if an explanation was forthcoming, as to why sufficient police protection has not been provided at the Ferry Wharves, on both sides of the harbour, but on the Hongkong side in particular. To-day at about 2.55 p.m. when the Ferry arrived at the Hongkong Wharf from Kowloon, there was a rabble on the wharf numbering several hundreds—there were also half a dozen ladies and the government's representation consisted of one European police sergeant, who incidentally was a hater and did his damndest, and one Chinese. Immediately the ferry got alongside the wharf and before those from Kowloon had had time to disembark, the rabble advanced, broke through the gates and pushed, jostled and almost carried the ladies off their feet and incidentally laughed and evidently thought it a huge joke. It is surely up to the authorities to take action that will preclude all possibility of this disgraceful conduct continuing and protect our womenfolk from further insults.

Enclosing my card
Yours etc.
"Daisy".
Hongkong, May 19, 1922.

STABBED WITH SCISSORS.

A young Chinese girl was charged before Magistrate Fraser this morning with having stabbed a Chinese woman with a pair of scissors in a house in Wellington Street yesterday afternoon.

Inspector Browne said that the complainant was at present in hospital suffering from the stab wounds on the face, one over the eye, one on the cheek and another on the side of the mouth. As far as he could gather, the trouble started over a quarrel between the defendant and the complainant's daughter. The complainant interfered and the defendant stabbed her with a pair of scissors which she had in her hand. The Inspector said that he did not think there was any premeditation, but the complainant's injuries were "rather serious" and he suggested that the defendant be remanded with bail in the sum of $250.

COLONY'S FINANCES.

A comparative statement of the Colony's revenue and expenditure for the period ended January 31, 1922, is now under review. The head of estimates, $17,276,293, revenue from January 1 to 31, $1,835,444, and revenue for the same period of the preceding year, $1,235,238, 70. Under the expenditure heading it gives estimates $20,188,980, expenditure from January 1 to 31, $1,224,023, 29, and expenditure for the same period of the preceding year, $881,403, 71.

CRIMINAL INTIMIDATION.

STRIKING CARPENTERS REMANDED.

In connection with the carpenters' affairs reported in yesterday's China Mail, four Chinese were charged before Magistrate Lindsay this morning with criminal intimidation, assault and disorderly conduct.

Mr. R.E.A. Webster who appeared for six complainants who were seriously assaulted, said that the trouble arose over the carpenters' strike which had been going on for some time. "Only the members of one carpenters' guild had gone on strike," Mr. Webster explained, and had tried to draw in the members of the Builders and Industrial Carpenters' Guild, and the Furniture Workers' Guild, but the latter had refused to join them. The assault took place in at least two places yesterday morning. In the case in which he was concerned, the assault took place in the "Mc Chan" restaurant between 8.30 and 8.45 yesterday morning. Five of the complainants were here assisted by the defendants who carried heavy Chinese fighting sticks, iron bars and a large chopper, which was covered with blood.

Mr. Webster asked for a remand for as long as the Magistrate could grant in order to give him time to go thoroughly into the case. He intimated that it might be necessary for him to amend the present charges against the defendants, as the assault was a serious one.

A remand was granted until 2.15 p.m. on Tuesday next.

"STAR" FERRY THEFT.

PICKPOCKET IN STRIKE CRUSH.

A Chinese was this morning charged before Magistrate Fraser with having picked the pocket of another Chinese on the "Star" Ferry wharf yesterday afternoon.

Inspector Browne said that the complainant came from Yau-mat. There was a big crush on the wharf, and while he was buying his ticket, the defendant stole $25 in notes from his pocket. The complainant gripped the defendant's head under his arm. Defendant dropped the notes on the wharf. Only $3 was recovered. Sentence of six weeks' hard labour was passed.

TYPHOON WARNING.

The telegram quoted below was received by the local American Consulate General from the Manila Observatory at 11.30 a.m. May 20, 1922.

Cyclone or typhoon E. of Mindanao direction unknown.

The Reverend Father Gauthier, a Frenchman, is to be Assistant Procurator to the Reverend Father Guillen at Singapore. Father Guillen died suddenly at the Procure this last August, whilst he was living by himself, and this incident has shown the necessity of having two procurators always in residence there.

CHURCH NOTES.

To-morrow's Collect reminds one of these words of Pascal: "All our dignity consists in thought. It is by that and not by time or space that we should raise ourselves. Let us therefore labour to think rightly; that is the principle of Morality."

These forty days before the Ascension, dwell on the joy which is coming with the Holy Spirit to the Church and His gifts. He is to teach us all things, to guide us into the way of truth. Without His inspiration we cannot think purely, or put such thoughts into action, but Jesus says, "Whatever ye shall ask the Father in My name, He will give it you—ask and ye shall receive, that your joy may be full."
So when we beseech Him to give us purity of thought, we have His promise, and there will be joy in heaven where our thoughts are heard.

"God looks not to see if our hands are full, He looks to see if they are clean."

St. James warns us in the Epistle against deceiving ourselves, having received the Word we must bring forth fruit and our great enemy will be our tongue which not only tries to cut off our own fruit but cuts the blossoms from the trees of other people too. But if we learn to control our tongues, to guard our thoughts, then our religion will express itself in a longing to help all in trouble, the fatherless, the widows, and in a desire to cut away everything in our worldly lives which might come between us and God.

In the Gospel Christ teaches His disciples and us the new way of approaching God in prayer; it is to be through Jesus Christ, in union with Him, trusting in His intercession.
Then the disciples begin questioning Jesus; they think that at last they understand and acknowledge Him as the Messiah and sorrowfully Jesus says to them, knowing their weakness "Behold the hour cometh, that ye shall be scattered every man to his own and shall leave me alone."

The disciples as a body will not be able to make a full confession of the faith till the day of Pentecost, "for no man can say that Jesus is the Lord but by the Holy Ghost."

To-morrow is Rogation Sunday, so called from the Latin "rogare," to beseech. The Gospel for the day is about rogations, teaching us how to ask so that we may obtain.

Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday are fast days, days of rogation; and in many parts of England there will be processions formed, and the Priest will bless the crops in his parish and beseech God for a fruitful harvest.

Thursday is the Feast of the Ascension. Our Lord rises into Heaven, is seated at the right hand of God and opens the Kingdom to all believers. "Lift up your head, ye gates of brass and the King of Glory shall come in."

The visible Ascension was a symbolical act: Jesus withdrew from the sight of His Apostles, not to a distance but to a spiritual sphere where they will reach Him in future through their spiritual faculties.

The criticism of the Daily Press upon the Birmingham Church Congress was that the Church, so far as the Congress represented it, seemed to have no spiritual message for the people of England. The criticism was significant and legitimate, and its weight was not to be altogether discounted by the fact that when the Church does give a spiritual message it is sometimes fiercely challenged in the same Press. The authorities of the Sheffield Church Congress seem to have taken heed, and to have been influenced also by the spirit of the Anglo-Catholic Congress, the Priests' Convention and preparations for the Evangelistic Campaign. The programme which they have just issued is indeed remarkable, for the first time in its history the Congress is to address itself solely to the consideration of the Church's mission to the world, the making known of the Eternal Gospel.

As indicated, the Congress this year will be held at Sheffield and the dates will be October 10th, to October 13th, inclusive. The subjects for discussion are some of the most remarkable ever discussed in convention and should prove of interest to the whole world. A few specimen subjects are given below:—Conversion of the Northern Races—Venture of the Reformation—The Natural and the Supernatural—Meaning and Psychology of Conversion—An Ideal Church—Husbands and Wives.

Much regret has been felt at the approaching retirement of the aged Bishop of Coventry, after a life of enterprising work. He is not very well and needs rest from labour. In his letter to his diocese he says:—
"The improvement in my condition which has been hoped

ADVERSARIA.

The door of the aviary HUMAN, was left open a few
ALL TOO moments. About half HUMAN, a dozen of the little chap, seed was put outside in case the should fail to find food. He could, if he wished, always come "home" to lunch. Sure enough next morning he was as desperately trying to get back into the aviary as any bird ever struggled to get out. Again and again he plunged his head through the wires.
How very human! We get almost to slavery that we do not know what to do with liberty when we find it.
Or we find that we had overvalued the other side of the shield. Freedom brings responsibilities. Of course in his case he should never have been enslaved at all, never brought away from the country where his kind of seed grow, and where he knows his way about. Men should never be anything but free, but they enslave themselves. Society is their cage.

They seem so gregarious as they, to prefer loss of freedom to loneliness, the crowded aviary to the inhabitable open. But freedom comes to all at last. The Buddhist sees this life as a cage. It is a cage that dissolves, and becomes less than a dream, for either man or bird.

You know Edward NOR PASTICE Dyer's shorts? He NOR PARODY, who feared no foe not fawned on friend, who loathed not life nor dreaded end? Well, here's a variation:

My mind to me a kingdom is.
Such civil war therein doth pass.
And thinking is such dubious bliss I would I were a beast at grass.
Though much I know that most do not.

Yet still I fear I'm talking rot.
My wealth were health and perfect ease.
And duty none my favoured use.
I would not teach of try to please But let you all stew in your juice.
But I must live, and worse still write.

And so my mind's a civil fight.
It is some of life's moments that make life moments worth while. Not many people realize it, but this is the only possible life. There is an idle dream of consistency. Men suffer a sea change.

Into something rich and strange.
They must not be left in too long.
Mine never are. My trouble is to leave them long enough. They lose a little of their pungency and their logic. He learns to distrust emotions.

But life must embrace both. There is a time to think judiciously, and there is a time when emotion must be given rein. Pure intellect would di card music and poetry. Music and poetry find pure intellect a handicap.
Many moments of happiness make the happy life. Continuous pleasure is monotony. Alternation and contrast is essential.

Now that is truth.
Reflection accepts it so.
But men are persistent in that stupidity, and some will remember it to their detriment. In a moment demanding pure intellectual feeling passionate, they will repeat that emotion must be given rein sometimes. In moments when emotionalism is appropriate they will refuse to enjoy, saying: "After all, what is music, what is poetry? Give me facts." Disappointed because he finds that he cannot love one woman all the time, many a man has concluded that he is incapable of true love.
A romantic life has given him an unrealistic. True love, like true anything, is for moments. The only difference between Beethoven and ragtime is subjective.

So many donations FUNDS TO and schemes for RE FOUNDED, endowments are in the air just now that I think it timely to put in a word for one that I have very much at heart. Who will contribute to the Pressmen's Eleven O'clock Sustenation Fund? Only a comparatively small amount is needed, as there are not more than a dozen Pressmen here, say two score including their eleven o'clock friends. They are a deserving class, whose useful public work is greatly aided by a gargle at the hour named. If this Fund is to be forthcoming, I suggest that it be divided two thirds to be bar-marked as a Beer Fund, and the balance for fancy drinks. Now Sir Paul!

The defeat of the TEACHERS' Home Government on PENSIONS, a motion relating to an economical proposal to make State teachers contribute five per cent. of their salaries towards their pensions is one more instance of the difficulties in the way of government economies. Every department affected by the Geddes proposals seems to have kicked. All are willing for economies, and see their necessity, but think a start should be made on the other fellow. It is natural. I think myself that there are officials less useful than teachers who might suffer the first cuts. When I think how often for a very small fault, or sometimes merely for the dislike of a superior, subordinates have been deprived of their pensions, I must suggest in any case that where the pensions are contributed to by the contributions should be returnable. There is nothing objectionable in the principle of servants contributing to their pensions, and I don't suppose the teachers think so. The objection here would be to the teachers being picked out first, while so many less important departments continue wasteful and needlessly expensive.

Why is red cabbage
PICKLES pickled and green not?
This is one of those common problems of real life which scientific research has hitherto shirked.
If there is a reason for it we should know it. If there is none we should know the reason why we do things without a reason. I eat pickled cabbage when it is put before me, but I do not clamour for it. I do not spend sleepless nights yearning for it.
I do not buttonhole total strangers in Pedder Street to assure them that all pickles red cabbage is the best, and that unless they believe this they cannot be saved. In effect, I am not prejudiced. A man who does not care for pickled cabbage, and says so, loses none of my respect. I believe prejudice in the matter of pickles is wrong, and symptomatic of an unbalanced character. Mixed pickles are not offensive to me, but I never run after them. The pickles of commerce—that come from factories —inspire enthusiasm in me. Pickled times with paprika are to me what caviare and olives are to things to which rich men are welcome to the me, and for which I am always grateful. But having proved my impartiality and freedom from the more violent predilections of lesser men, I am free to confess that my spiritual home is in a jar of homemade pickled onions. I once went on a picnic with one friend and one jar of home-made P.O. I lost my friend, but I had the others. "For I, while my companion slept, was eating onions in the night." But that is a painful story, which I did not really mean to tell. I wished to talk of those little crisp onions, faintly blushing buds, which are peeled by my own cook and plunged into an ocean of fresh vinegar, so that, as Shakespeare so truly says, they crispness in the vinegar, but they gain in tone. They are mysteriously mellowed and enriched, like the voice of a thin baritone when he catches cold. I daresay I could write more about this matter if I wanted to. I suddenly discover that I do not want to. I may be pouring my pickled pearls before unappreciative persons.

This is a horrid thought, which grab-the most loving enthusiasm by the coat tails, and yanks it back with a —with a—well, with what ye might call a yank.

But above all things BUT QUITE let us be serious. Flip-SERIOUSLY, pencey never yet did good in the world, nor dried the tears of a crying child. Per-sillage butters no parsnips, or no more than that of the persiflage, and only then if he gets into Punch or some other paper that really pays its people. One Punch writer discussing Experts wrote: "When I see a cigar expert listening to his cigar before putting it in his mouth I wish that I were as great a man as he. Privately sometimes I have listened to a cigar, and it has told me nothing. The only way I can tell whether it is good or bad is by smoking it." Another expert called S. P. B. Maiz thinks that "very much to the point." I can only conclude that Maiz is as big a chucklehead as Milne. Bigger really, because I suspect Milne of persiflage, while Maiz is in earnest. Experts cannot be condemned on such flimsy evidence as that. The cigar expert does not listen to his cigar to find out if it is a good one or bad one. His critic starts off, you see, by misreading his motive, and misunderstanding his purpose. He listens to learn its condition as regards humidity. Humidity is a good word, and I do not see why it should be restricted to remarks on climate. Anyway, it is true, that while some cigars have tobacco in them, and some cabbage, they are all liable to have humidity. Some people keep them in a humidor for that reason. It should really be called a dehumidor, but I do not insist on this, especially as I heard one Hongkong man calling it a cuspudore. Disregarding that, I would call your attention to the fact that the cigar expert envied by Mr. Milne did something more than merely listen. Milne did not notice it, but the man pressed the cigar slightly with his fingers while holding it to his ears. This pressure, unnoticeable by Milne, was noticed by the cigar, which responded after its kind. This teaches us that the validity of any criticism depends on the critic having knowledge of all the factors. Furthermore, it applies by analogy to human testimony. Careless people like Milne or Maiz would listen to a man without learning anything. Men have to be slightly pressed, as well as cigars, in order to get full truth out of them.
That is why in our courts we have cross examination. Contrary to a common belief this does not derive from the fact that the examiner usually seems cross. It should be unnecessary to add that if Milne really meant what he said, that the only way he can tell a bad cigar is by smoking it, he must be a singularly helpless, and wasteful, and unhappy man. Whether he buys by the box or singly, he must discard a lot. I wouldn't give a cigar a bad name without cause; but I certainly wouldn't smoke one to prove his badness. The way I do is to ask the cigar merchant, I put him on his honour. "Sir," I tell him, "I cannot afford to pay seven cents for a cigar three parts of which I shall be obliged to throw away. As a man and a brother, I beg you to be honest with me. Is this really a good cigar? It is gratifying to be able to announce that I have seldom been deceived. Once one called Habakkuk deceived me; but in a short time from that he had to shut up his cigar store and go away. I put a hoodoo on his place of business. For the most part I find cigar merchants men of probity, with a high sense of honour. Such usually reply to me as follows: "Sir, I appreciate your confidence. As man to man I assure you that this is a good cigar—for seven cents; but I strongly advise you to buy this one at 25 cents. It will give you more satisfaction." That is mainly, and straightforward, and I never disregard good and expert advice given in such circumstances. I usually respond by buying a tin of Navy Cut. There is no need to hold a tin of Navy Cut to your ear before smoking it, although if the label be discoloured, and the tin bulged at all, it is wiser to open it there and then and demand another if it is full of mushrooms. I am fond of mushrooms, but not in my pipe.
This may seem illogical, but it's me.
I never lie about any prejudices I detect myself having.

When a man is as confident he is right as the sounded above Paul was, so THIS, says "Prove all things." He says "Don't take my word for it; investigate, probe, enquire for yourself. You'll find it is true." When he is less sure, he accuses the sceptic of blasphemy or irreverence or "wilful doubt" or disloyalty. Can we reverse, and say that such accusations indicate uncertainty by the accuser, while the equable reception of scientific scepticism indicates a confidence probably well warranted? We could, but thereon, so cunning are men, some would pose as tolerant of doubt in order to demonstrate assurance.

"We read," writes one NUT? optimistic booster of literature, "to remove prejudice from our mind, not to add to our prejudices, not to confirm ourselves in our childish opinions, but to outgrow them." I wish it were true; but I encounter too many ingrown opinions, too little tolerance of the Advocatus Diaboli, too little belief in the rightness of "audi alteram partem."

It is, as it happens, true of me. I read much. But I do not get enjoyment by reading restatements of my own beliefs. They make me impatient.
I cry that this writer knows no more than I do myself. The writer I like and enjoy is the one who shocks me, who puts to me the most unexpected and annoying propositions.
What other people call "disturbing" propositions. Not being a corpse yet, I like to be disturbed. It livens me.
Any book that begins by questioning a thing I hold true is sure to "intrigue" me. The type of book, the type of man who bores me, is the one who begins sentimentally, "A stitch" Before he adds "in time, saves nine." I am meditating homicide. If however, he says that a stitch in time involves fingers weary and worn and eyelids heavy and red, I perk up and take notice. This man is going to teach me something about sowing. At the least he is going to wake my intellect watching to detect his fallacies. It is great joy to prove the other fellow wrong if only to oneself. By being wrong he is my benefactor; I do not want to slay him. I often fear that my own writings must be dull reading, because I am so invariably right. Luckily, Hongkong people do not think so, which comes to exactly the same thing as my being wrong, doesn't it? For though they wrongly think me wrong they get the pleasure of discovering my wrongness, and pointing it out, and so all parties are satisfied. And after all, I may be wrong. I am the only writer I cannot analyse and find out.

ALLEGED SNATCHING.

A BOARDING HOUSE ARREST.

Inspector Appleton yesterday afternoon charged a Chinese before Magistrate Fraser with attempted larceny.
Evidence was given by a "boy" employed on the s.s. "Tydeus" that the defendant followed him from a money changer's shop where he had changed a $10 bill, to a seaman's boarding house. As the witness was going up the stairs, the defendant seized him by the neck and took from his trousers pocket $140 in notes.
The witness called out "snatching" and Inspector Appleton who happened to be executing a search warrant in the boarding house ran downstairs and caught the defendant.

The Inspector said that being unaware that he was a police officer, the defendant told him that he was a Chinese detective.

The case was adjourned until this morning for the defendant to call witnesses.

KIDNAPPERS JAILED.

BOYS BROUGHT FROM CANTON.

Magistrate Fraser yesterday afternoon heard a case against two Chinese charged with having kidnapped two small boys in Canton.

When asked to plead, the first accused denied the charge, while the other said "Yes, I kidnapped the boys with the first accused in Canton."

Evidence for the prosecution was to the effect that when the father of one of the boys returned home from work about noon on the 12th inst. he saw his son playing outside a temple in Hopam, Canton. At 3 p.m. the two boys were missing, and nothing more was heard of them until a few days later when defendants took them on board the s.s. "Kwongzi" from a boat at Canton. During the voyage to Hongkong a Malay watchman heard the defendants tell the boys that if anyone should ask them of their relationship they should describe them (defendants) as their uncles. His suspicions aroused, the watchman reported to the Captain who decided to hand the defendants over to the Police on the ship's arrival. Defendants were taken before the Secretary for Chinese Affairs who handed a letter to the Malay watchman to be taken to the boys' fathers in Canton on his next trip to that port. The watchman complied and the fathers came down and identified their sons.

Defendants were sentenced to six months' hard labour and six strokes each.

KINEMA NOTES.

Kinema goes have their last chance this evening of seeing the Coronet Theatre's remarkable drama, "The Penalty."

This evening's Kowloon Theatre attraction, "Captain Kidd, Jr.," will fill the bill at the Coronet tomorrow (Sunday). Of "Captain Kidd Jr." it is only necessary to mention that Mary Pickford plays the leading role; the magic of her name is sufficient promise of a delightful picture. A big picture comes to the Kowloon Theatre tomorrow in "The Heart of the North," featuring Roy Stewart and Louise Lovely.

On Tuesday night the Kowloon Theatre will hold its fox trot competition, which is already acquiring much interest and speculation.

CHILDREN'S CORNER.

SPRING FLOWERS.

"Are we really going home next week Mother?" asked Sylvia.
"Yes, next week really, and truly," smiled her mother. "We shall be home for an English spring and how you will love it Sylvia!"

"I am sure I shall," said the little girl. "Tell me about it Mother please."

"Well first of all we shall go and stay with Granny," her mother told her. "And she lives in a rambling old house in Hertfordshire. In the summer the walls are covered with roses and there is a great purple clematis climbing over the porch. All round the house are beech woods and when we are there the leaves will just be coming out."

"Copper beech?" asked Sylvia, who had heard of these trees though she had never seen them.

"No green beech," answered her mother. "They are the freshest, brightest leaves that you could possibly imagine all covered with soft silky hairs and the branches are thin and easy to break. Granny always has great vases full of them all over the house. Then the ground is carpeted with moss and primroses are growing everywhere."

"What are they like Mother?" enquired Sylvia who had never been to England.

"They are like pale yellow stars," she replied. "Each flower has five petals and grows on a thin stalk and the crinkled leaves spring up from the roots too. Here in Hongkong we have many wonderful and gay-coloured flowers, such as the scarlet poinsettia and the huge trumpet like hibiscus, but somehow I cannot think of anything so delicate and sweet as the primrose."

"Do they smell sweet too then?"
Sylvia asked.

"Well they have not a strong scent," her mother answered. "But a fragrant spring-like one."

"And what other flowers are there?" Sylvia asked again.

"In the fields all round there are cowslips and harebells," said her mother. "The cowslips grow a dozen or more together, at the end of a stout round stalk and they have a delicious scent too. Granny who as you know is getting very old now and who likes old fashioned things, makes cowslip wine out of them and I expect she will ask you to pick ever-so many for her. It is better not to pick the harebells, "she went on."
They are so fragile and do not last long but they are the most beautiful tiny blue bells growing on stalks like bits of cotton so that they sway about in the slightest breeze."

"I can imagine," said her mother thoughtfully. "That all those wee bells tinkle together when the fairy Queen and King pass by but we mortals cannot hear them as our ears are not delicately tuned enough for the fairy music."

"It all sounds delightful," said Sylvia. "Oh Mother do you think this week will ever go!"

"Yes it will go soon enough," laughed her mother. "We have so much to do."

And this was only too true as there was such a lot of packing up to be done and before they knew where they were Sylvia and her mother were on the big boat going home.

PETER PAN.

FALLING DOWN.

I wish the ground was not so hard,
It hurts me when I fall, I scratch my knees and bump my head.

I'm only very small.

I wish the ground was like my bed, As soft as soft can be.
I hurt myself 'most every day,
But then I'm only three.

The grown-ups do not fall about;
Why is that?—Do you know?
I guess I'll have to set to work And see if I can't grow.

I'm tired of falling every day,
And yet—I simply have to play.
When can you describe a candle as being in a passion?

When it flares up and is put out.

LAUNCHMEN'S STRIKE.

NEGOTIATIONS CONTINUE.

PUBLIC SERVICES MAINTAINED.

The inconvenience caused by the strike of the launchmen seems mainly to fall on the heads of Kowloon residents. Yesterday the restricted service maintained resulted in every launch of the Star Ferry being picked off the rush being made still more severe by the crowds of Chinese who had perforce to use the boats in consequence of the ferry launchmen to Yau-mai and other districts having ceased running. For the greater part of the day two ferries were used and great numbers of people were brought across. True the passage was slow and at times not devoid of excitement. Occasionally a junk was bumped into and at times the what was only made with difficulty. One boat discharging its passengers at Blake Pier towards the evening Blake Pier and the adjacent Quay was crowded with Chinese watching the progress of the boats. A mishap to one of them left only one vessel to maintain the service, and needless to say this was packed at every trip. During yesterday there were complaints that the Star Ferry Pier was insufficiently policed and that ladies had been pushed and jostled by the crowd. Last evening on the Hongkong side two members of the force were on the pier controlling the crowd. It may be said that they did much in minimizing the inconvenience caused by the large numbers waiting to get on the boat. A lot of unnecessary pushing was at all events eliminated. The service today is being satisfactorily maintained, two ferry boats running.

YESTERDAY'S MEETING.

The meeting called yesterday by the owners to which launchmen were invited, reached no conclusion. It was held at the Secretariat for Chinese Affairs and was attended by representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, the Hon. Mr. A. O. Lang and eight coxswains and engineers. The Guild representatives were also invited but had left for Canton.

At the Coxswains and Engineers' Guild pressmen were informed yesterday that a Chinese connected with the Secretariat for Chinese Affairs interviewed the officials and told them that the Guild's delegates were requested to attend a meeting with representatives of the Hongkong General Chamber of Commerce in the office of the Hon. Mr. E. R. Hallifax. As the Guild's delegates had left for Canton to make arrangements for the accommodation of the strikers there, the Hon. Mr. Hallifax's deputy was advised to get a letter from the Secretary for Chinese Affairs testifying to the invitation of the Chamber of Commerce which the Guild would send to their delegates in Canton. The representative said that the Guild was quite prepared to resume negotiations with the owners on the condition that they would cancel their terms and discuss the wage question on the basis of a percentage increase.

NEGOTIATIONS CONTINUE.

A protracted meeting was held at the Secretariat for Chinese Affairs this morning. The meeting adjourned just before noon. The Secretary for Chinese Affairs informed a China Mail representative that the meeting would probably continue this afternoon, as the men had gone to consult their confederates on a new offer made by the owners. Details of offer are not yet available.

TO NIGHT'S FERRIES.

The Star Ferry Co. intimates that the last ferry will leave Hongkong at 8.30 to-night and from Kowloon at 8.15.

MORE VOLUNTEERS.

It was rumoured in town this morning that members of the Marine Engineers' Guild had volunteered to assist in running the Star Ferry. Up to the time of going to press no definite information on the matter was available.

GOVERNMENT'S POSITION.

It is understood that at yesterday afternoon's meeting the Government informed the Chamber of Commerce that it must not look to the Government for assistance in running launches, nor must it look the Navy or Army. Government assistance will be limited to public utility services.

FOR A LAME BACK.

When you have pains or lameness in the back, the joints with Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice a day, massaging with the palm of the hand for five minutes at each application. Then clasp a piece of flannel slightly with this ointment and bind it on over the seat of pain. For sale by all Chemists and Storekeepers.

EX-SERVICE MEN.

SINGAPORE CLUB SCHEME.

The annual meeting of the Singapore Branch of the Ex-Services Association of Malaya was held last week.

Referring to the Volunteers, the Chairman said it was a debatable point as to how far the Association should take an official part in the matter, and he knew perfectly well some people did not agree with it; but he would be surprised if many people disagreed with the Association giving the aid it thought advisable.

Replying to a member who suggested that the Branch might contribute part of its funds to help service men at home, and that members might contribute individually, the Chairman stated that one of the questions for the next meeting of the Committee related to amalgamation with Haig's League.

The meeting considered proposals in regard to the provision of a Services Club. Dr. Wilson stated that the Committee were unanimously of the opinion that the whole-hearted support of members would be required the whole time. The Committee had come to the conclusion that for a tiffin club for one hundred members, as a unit, the cost to equip it would be $5,000, in addition to which there would be about $800 sundry monthly expenditure.

Provided that the support of four hundred members was assured the proprietors of Goodwood Hall were prepared to reserve it for use as a Services Club, with billiards, tennis, and accommodation at less than hotel charges; and also to run a tiffin club in Robinson Road for a hundred members. After an initial payment of $5 per head, no further sum would be payable to the proprietors. Dr. Wilson advocated that unless the support of 75 per cent of the members was obtained the proposal should be dropped.

In the course of the discussion which took place it was pointed out that the Club would be for all service men, and Volunteers. No hope was held out of financial assistance from Government.

A motion for the approval of the Goodwood Hall scheme was lost by 14 votes to 20, but the Chairman intimated that the sub-committee was not disbanded.

Singapore branch has a membership of 255, with 25 new members applying.

OBITUARY.

MR. JOHN K.C. MCCORQUODALE.

The death took place at his residence, East Point Terrace, yesterday, of Mr. John Kenneth Campbell McCorquodale, member of the China Sugar Refinery Co.'s staff. He was at business on Monday and went home at 5 o'clock. From that time he was confined to his bed until he died suddenly yesterday.

Deep sympathy will be felt for his widow who is now in the Colony, having returned from a holiday at home at the end of last year. Mr. McCorquodale's death will also come as a shock to many friends here.

Mr. McCorquodale arrived at Hongkong in 1897. He had been 25 years with the China Sugar Refinery as a senior assistant. A keen sportsman, he was a member of the Royal Hongkong Golf Club and a member of the Corinthian Yacht Club before it closed. He was also a member of the Engineers' Institute.

The funeral will pass the Monument at five o'clock this evening.

MORE STOWAWAYS.

Twelve Filipino lads, two aged 19 and 16 years respectively, and the others 14 and under, were charged before Magistrate Lindsell this morning with having stowed away from Manila by the s.s. "Empire State" which arrived in port yesterday.

The defendants all said that they wanted to go to America. Magistrate: You are all children except the first two defendants. Why do children like you want to go to America?

A Mrs. Rosario who was present in Court said that one of the defendants was her brother. Apparently he had been ill-treated by his step father in Manila, and had decided to leave the country. He had already come to Hongkong once, but was sent away before she knew of it. She asked for permission to take charge of her brother whom she promised to educate.

Magistrate (to the boy): You can go with your sister. The other defendants were sent to House of Detention pending arrangements to have them sent back to Manila.

Gives a Glorious Sensation of Vigour and Well-being

The more highly-strung your nerves are, the more quickly they will respond to the intense invigorating effect of Sanatogen. But even the duller nerves respond to it in time—feel the powerful access of energy that Sanatogen brings, and derive from it a new tone and elasticity.

Mr. Horace Hazeltine, the well-known novelist writes: "Since I took my first cup of Sanatogen there has been a day-by-day gain in activity and energy. In less than a month it has wonderfully improved my condition. My appetite is healthy. I sleep like an infant, and wake each morning to the fresh joy of living."

Take your first cup of Sanatogen to-day. And remember that it is no mere stimulant—producing reaction and other ill-effects—but a safe physiological restorative that has been proved to re-create nerve force; hence the delightful feeling of vitality and freshness which it imparts.

FOX TROT.

SECRETS OF GOOD DANCING.

In view of the Kowloon Theatre's forthcoming fox-trot competition, the following hints on this popular dance by Mr. F. J. S. Richardson, Editor of the Dancing Times, have a topical interest.

The fox-trot came to England from America somewhere about June, 1914. In its early days it had many variations, and was of a somewhat hopy nature. Rugged "twinkles" were permitted, and, indeed, were taught even by the best teachers. With the coming of the armistice, dancing, unfortunately, became more friskish, and the fox-trot was one of the chief offenders. A conference of nearly three hundred teachers was held, and they strongly urged that all frisk steps, all dips, twinkles and exaggerated pauses be taboo, and that certain steps be recognized as the basic steps of the various dances. The dancing public saw the wisdom of these recommendations, which took effect. The basic steps suggested for the fox-trot were: (1) The fox-trot walk (one step to two beats of the music); (2) The chase, and (3) The three step. During the last year these three movements (and one more) were the only movements used in the fox-trot by the best dancers.

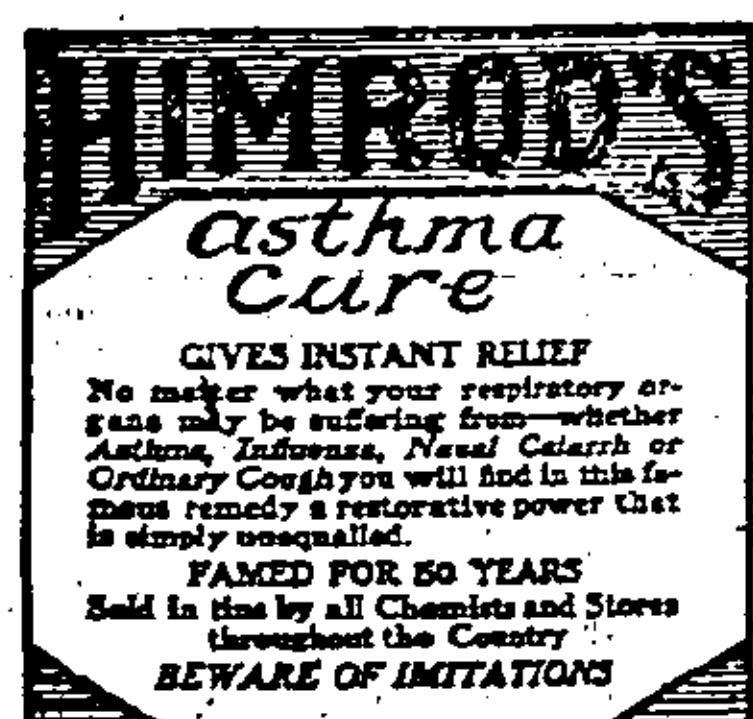

"CROSS BEHIND" STEP.
The additional movement which was always permitted by the judges was the step known as the "cross behind," in which the gentleman (going forward), after advancing his left foot, crosses the right behind it, and the lady, going backwards, crosses her left in front of her right. The gentleman can do the step to the other side, in which case "left" should be read for "right" and vice versa, in the above statement. When the gentleman is going backwards he crosses in front, and the lady who will then be going forward, will cross behind.

The above were the only accepted fox-trot steps last year. They could be performed in any order, and should be danced very smoothly indeed. When the cross step is used there is a slight away of the body which gives a wave-like appearance to the movements of the dancers.

BEWARE OF FANCY STEPS.
This winter hundreds of the very best dancers are still confining their steps to the above; but there is a tendency among a few to introduce a certain amount of what may be called "foot-work," erroneously called "shimmy." Frequently couples, still holding the value position, both face the line of the dance and do a forward and backward chase. Sometimes this is done with a waggle of the feet from the ankle, and sometimes without. These fancy steps should, in a competition, only be attempted by an expert. Let others confine their attention to the smooth steps of last year and remember that style and rhythm are the secrets of good dancing.

HOW TO HOLD.

One of the first secrets of good dancing, both in the fox-trot and the value, is to hold yourselves naturally. Many who walk in a perfectly easy manner adopt a strained and awkward attitude the moment they stand up to dance. Though you should stand erect you should not stiffen like a guardman on parade. All the muscles, including even the muscles of the neck, should be relaxed. The late Vernon Castle, most celebrated

YARN MARKET REPORT.

Messrs. Polihwalla and Kotwall, cotton and yarn brokers, reported as follows yesterday:—

Since our last report on the 21st April per a.s. "Honolulu Maru," our Yarn market, during the early part of the interval had kept very quiet without any inquiry, with a further decline of $4 to $9 per bale.

In the midst of this depressing condition a sudden big demand from Yunnan and other adjoining markets for 10s and 15s and 12s Yarn, has buoyed our market and Chinese buyers in their zeal to complete their orders have made large purchases which has resulted in the sale of about 9000 bales within the last ten days with an advance of $2 to $4 per bale. There was every indication of this healthy tone continuing for some time, but the alarming news of an ever-increasing political unrest spreading throughout China, are constantly keeping buyers in great anxiety as regards their future most uncertain business position with their up-country dealers, hence at the close the market has remained quiet.

Unsold Stock 9000 bales.
Bargain Stock in Chinese hands 16,000 bales.

Shanghai.—Chinese merchants are giving special preference to locally manufactured Yarn by Shanghai Mills so it is in good demand, hence business in Indian Yarn during the whole interval, had been on a very limited scale.

Japanese Yarn.—The Chinese dealers finding present low prices very favourable large lots have changed hands as under:—

2000 bales Nagasaki No. 20s at $215/220; bales 3 Horses No. 16s at $213; bales 3 Horses No. 20s at $217; 5000 bales Yellow Joss No. 20s at $208/213; 200 bales Setu No. 10s at $171; 200 bales Setu No. 20s at $227; 200 bales Blue Fish No. 28s at $226.

Raw Cotton.—Market is very firm. Few transactions have passed during the interval as under:—

290 bales Bengal at $32 to $33; 300 bales Chinese at $39 to $43.
Quotations Bengal at $31 to $34 per picul; Chinese at $38 to $43 per picul. Total sales, 6000 bales.

THE PRINCE'S DANCING PARTNERS.

INDIAN DOWAGERS CROSS.

When ceremony takes the form of star-panged princes and marble halls running with perfumed water, there is the excuse of picturesque and age-long custom. When it takes the form of inviting an enthusiastic dancer to have as his partner on every occasion the most venerable lady present it seemed to the Prince to have no excuse at all, and he treated the custom rules of precedence (so much more cast-iron in India than in Buckingham Palace) with democratic ruthlessness. The result has been an ever-widening trail of offended great ladies in his wake. It was a recent lesson for a precedence and precedent-ridden land. Another great lesson, which the Prince has taught India, is that speeches are not successful in proportion to their length but in proportion to their sincerity and appropriateness. Extract from a Bombay letter.
